

ELECTRICAL INDUSTRY CERTIFICATIONS ASSOCIATION

EICA Training Policy

The Electrical Industry Certifications Association (EICA) does not provide training of any kind. EICA only offers certifications exams. EICA does not endorse any training company.

EICA strongly recommends taking a training class and reviewing the reference material listed in the candidate handbook before taking the written examinations.

EICA's website provides a list of training companies that have been approved to use the EICA logo and who provide preparative training for the EICA certifications. EICA does not endorse any of the training programs. Companies and associations may request to be recognized by EICA in a written application.